What is a CSA?

Community Supported Agriculture allows you to enjoy gourmet vegetables along with everyday garden varieties selected by your very own personal farmers. By subscribing for the growing season you receive a weekly share of the varieties of locally grown produce from Northeast Ohio.

Along with your fresh produce you will receive a newsletter giving you recipes and tips on how to handle, prepare, and preserve the items.

What our shareholders think:

We appreciated the opportunity to purchase the half share for the smaller family. Although next summer I will think hard about just going ahead with the full share because everything is so good. I looked forward to Wednesdays at Lakewood Public Library and discovering what would be in the canvas bag. Can't wait to see what the extra autumn goodies will be.
Christa Turnbull (Sep 28, 2009)

Delicious vegetables every week and the great recipes that Kay sends out on their newsletter make this CSA very special. But the most special to me are the Prochko's themselves...they always have a smile for every single customer, remember your likes and dislikes, and are just a joy to be around. I have eaten vegetables I never even knew existed and I am loving every minute of it. Mick did a great job teaching me how to tell a good ear of corn without peeling back the husks.
